Cookie policy

Version of 20 November 2026

The bureauprotectiondigitale.fr website uses no advertising cookies, no audience measurement tools and no third-party trackers.

Article 1. Display language

The website stores no information on the user’s device. The display language depends on the address visited: the home page in French, the /en section in English.

Article 2. Document area

Access to restricted documents is protected by authentication handled by the browser. The credentials entered are kept by the browser for the session; the website does not store them as a cookie.

Article 3. Third-party services

Fonts are hosted with the website: no external font service is called. When the contact form is sent, its content is passed to Formspree, which delivers it to the office; no cookie is set on the website when this happens. The website host keeps technical logs for security purposes.

Article 4. Settings

Users can clear cookies and site data at any time in their browser settings; the website does not depend on them.

Article 5. Contact
